

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. TAKEN FROM THE FIRST VOLUME.

IN presenting to the public this new and complete catalogue of the Lenox Library, it seems to the managers to be fitting to prefix to it a brief sketch of the origin and history of the institution.

In the latter part of the last century a Library was established in Lenox for the use of the shareholders, embracing a large number of the families in the town, and though small compared with the present Library, it contained a choice selection of standard works. In after years, two other organizations were formed, all of them for the benefit of the proprietors and their families, the present Library being the first which extended its benefits to all the inhabitants of the Town.

This Library owes its existence chiefly to the disinterested and laborious efforts of Mr. John Hotchkin, the long time Principal of the Lenox Academy, by whose energetic public spirit the town largely profited during all the time of his residence here. After the passage by the Legislature of the Commonwealth of a statute authorizing towns to appropriate money for the maintenance of Public Libraries, this town was induced to appropriate the sum of $300.00 for this purpose, on condition that a like sum was raised by private subscription; and this additional sum was raised, through the personal efforts of Mr. Hotchkin. The six hundred dollars so obtained was expended in the purchase of books and cases, and the Library went into operation in January, 1855, in a small room in the Town Hall. The insufficiency and insecurity of this place of deposit early became apparent to parties interested, and in the year 1856, a Library Association was formed, under whose auspices, Mr. Hotchkin being the efficient working member of the Association, a Library building was erected and furnished.

The building was then offered to the Town by the Association, on condition that they should never alienate it or use it for any other purpose than a Library, and that the Library should always be maintained open one day in each week, and free to all the inhabitants of the Town. But at this time the Town was passing through one of those periods of indiscriminating economy with which municipalities are affected, and declined the gift and offered to sell the Library for the sum of three hundred dollars, the amount which they had expended upon it. The Association accepted the offer, and gave their obligation for the amount required, and the Library ceased from that time to be the property of the Town.

The Library remained closed to all but members of the Association for about a year. This period of enforced abstinence from its accustomed privileges in the Library worked such a change in the feelings of the Town, that, in the year 1858, the Association was enabled to make an arrangement by which the Library was to be opened to all the inhabitants, and the Town was to pay to the Association the sum of one hundred dollars annually for the period of twelve years, at the end of which time they were to surrender the obligation of the Association, and receive from them the Library and building, to be always maintained as a Free Public Library. Under this arrangement the Town paid into the treasury of the Association the sum of nine hundred dollars. As the time approached for the completion of the contract it seemed to all the parties interested best that the Library should remain in the hands of the Association, and a new arrangement was made, by which the Library became free to all the taxable inhabitants of the Town forever, the Town agreeing to pay into the Association the amount which should be annually received from the dog tax, or from any special fund set apart by law for the support of Libraries, but assuming no further obligation for its support.

The Library remained in the building erected for its use until 1874, when the building formerly known as the Court House, now known as the "Charles Sedgwick Library and Reading Room," having been purchased by Mrs. Adeline E. Schermerhorn, and given to Trustees for the use of the Town, an arrangement was made with the Trustees by which they gave to the Association a lease in perpetuity of two rooms in this building for the use of the Library, and agreed to pay annually the rent received for the use of two other rooms, now amounting to one hundred and fifty dollars per annum, and the Association agreed to open the Library for the distribution of books on five days in each week instead of two, as had been hitherto practised. The Library was opened in its new location, July 21, 1874.

It will be seen by these statements that the Library owes its present value and importance very largely to individual beneficence. It has a permanent fund of about three thousand two hundred dollars, commenced by a gift of one thousand dollars from the late Mr. Ammi Robbins, of New York, a native of this Town. Among its most bountiful benefactors have been many of those who have come to make in Lenox their summer homes, and thus become interested in its welfare, and in a measure identified with its citizens.

Among the recent benefactors of the Library, the Managers desire to mention Miss Alice S. Hooper, who, in addition to valuable contributions of money and books, has given her personal attention to the preparation of the present catalogue.

The annual income of the Library is derived from its small permanent fund, the rents received from the trustees of the building in which it is located, the annual receipt from the Town, and some sums received for the use of the books during the summer months. The amount received from these sources will do little more than provide for current expenses, and the Library must still depend for its increase upon the benefactions of its friends.

7. Residents in the vicinity of Lenox are allowed the same privileges in relation to the use of the Library as are attached to the proprietorship of one share, on payment in advance to the Treasurer of the annual sum of $1.50. The treasurer shall report forthwith to the managers any permit which may have been given under this By-law.

8. Any manager of the Association, or any one of the trustees of the Charles Sedgwick Library and Reading Room, may grant cards of admission to temporary visitors in Lenox, which shall entitle them to the same privileges as taxable inhabitants; the person signing the card being responsible to the Association for any loss which may accrue.

9. The Librarian may issue books to persons not entitled to the privileges of the Library on receiving satisfactory security a a weekly payment of ten cents for the use of each volume. Such books not to be kept out more than two weeks.

10. If any volume shall be lost or destroyed while out of the Library, the person to whom it stands charged shall pay such sum as the chairman of the Board and the Librarian shall prescribe.

11. If any person shall retain a book beyond the time when by law it should have been returned, such person shall pay a fine of two cents for every day of its detention, including the day on which it is returned.

12. The Librarian shall give notice to any person of any fine imposed for detention, damage, or loss of a volume, and the right of such person to draw books shall be suspended until such fine is paid. The Librarian shall also keep a record of all such fines, and shall from time to time pay over all sums received to the treasurer.

13. All books belonging to the Library shall be called in on the Friday next preceding each of the two stated meetings of the Board, and retained until after said meeting, that the state of the Library may be ascertained. Due notice having been posted in the Library room and at the Post-Office, for two weeks previous to the day on which the books are to be brought in, every book not returned on that day shall be deemed to have been lost, and shall not be afterwards accepted in lieu in of payment, except with the consent of the Board of Managers.

14. The Board of Managers may from time to time designate particular books as not to be taken out but only consulted in the Library.

15. Magazines and all separate numbers of periodicals, shall be considered volumes.

16. Books shall not be lent out of the family for which they are drawn, and the right of any person offending against this rule to draw books from the Library may be suspended at the discretion of the Board of Managers.
17. Until a book has been in the Library at least three months, it shall not be kept out more than two weeks, or renewed to the same person.
18. Catalogues of the books in the Library shall be furnished, and an abstract of the Rules and By-laws relating to the use of the Library shall be placed in every volume.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

ATTENTION is called to the following law of the Commonwealth, which applies to unbound periodicals as well as bound volumes:—

An Act for the Preservation of Books and other Property belonging to Public Libraries.

Whoever wilfully and maliciously, or wantonly and without cause, writes upon, injures, defaces, tears, or destroys any book, plate, picture, engraving, or statue belonging to any law, town, city, or other public library, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding six months, for every such offence.

Approved Feb. 26, 1872.

NOTE.

EVERY BOOK is entered alphabetically by its title: it is also entered a second time, following the name of the Author, which is alphabetically placed: many books are entered a third time also, — viz : under the topic to which they belong.

Great effort has been made to avoid errors — the success of that effort remains to be proved.
